Only burial ground where a woman is working as registrar has no amenities as BBMP yet to provide even a restroom

It is the Bruhat Mahanagara Palike's job to make sure Bengaluru is open defecation-free. The civic body has been spending a considerable amount of money and time to ensure Bengaluru joins the list of clean cities in the country as part of the Swachh Bharat Mission.

However, as usual, the BBMP has missed the target due to reasons best known to it. Perhaps one of the reasons may be the lack of facilities — especially restrooms, at burial grounds, as this correspondent found out.

Kalpalli Burial Ground is the only burial ground where a woman is working as a registrar. Sathya S joined duty as the registrar of Kalpalli Burial Ground in February 2021.

Sathya succeeded in earning love, appreciation and affection from those who visit the burial ground to bury bodies of their relatives. But the BBMP seems to have forgotten about her existence.

THE UNIFORM LIFE

Habits are often difficult to break and after two years of no school, teachers and faculty members are finding it difficult to enforce the uniform mandate

Many schools have started sending circulars to parents reminding them of the dress code

You would think that uniform and schools are synonymous and part and parcel of a school-going child's life. But reality post pandemic may not dictate so. After a complete paradigm shift in education in the last two years, one of the norms which was nearly forgotten was the dress code and while schools may have returned to the old normal, some pandemic habits are being difficult to break and schools are having a tough time enforcing the uniform mandate.

Many schools have started sending circulars to parents reminding them that the dress code must be strictly followed. One of the schools sent a message to the parents stating, "This is to inform you that from July 1 onwards, students are expected to come in complete full uniform. Please send your ward in neat, tidy and pressed uniform without fail.

Girls who have long hair are expected to plait their hair and fold it up, girls with short hair above shoulder length can put two ponytails. Black ribbon is compulsory. Boys have to trim their hair and come neatly dressed. All the students are expected to trim their nails and polish their shoes."

A school principal told Mirror that pre-covid, they did not have to send any such circulars as it was the norm. "We were issuing circulars only to the freshers. However, now, we are forced to tell everyone as we are seeing that dress discipline is completely lacking among students."

Another school principal said that this was due to habits formed during the last two years when students spent their academics mostly in online mode. Initially, they insisted that school children should wear uniforms as even if it was online class, there should be a dress discipline. However, many parents didn't bother to buy uniforms at all. So, they could not make it mandatory.

"Now, with classes back in offline mode, many are still coming in colour dress. Added to this, many schools also had a tough time procuring uniforms this year due to increased demand and short supply.

On the other hand, kids in the lower grades who have not seen campus life have been very casual about dresses. Many have long hair. So, now we are finding it tough to discipline them."

Suraksha R, a parent said, "In our days, we were made to stand outside class or get beatings from teachers if we didn't follow the dress code. However, with no corporal punishment, schools are now sending e-mails and messages to parents. Covid has changed the way we dress and think. My daughter studies in Grade three and this is the first time she is wearing a uniform. Discipline is definitely a must."

Not a flight of fancy for students going abroad

Many students are resorting to booking layover flights that cost slightly less than direct flights

Studying abroad has just gotten costlier thanks to flight fares which has increased for places like the United States, United Kingdom and Canada, and students who have just enrolled are worried.

Shamanth Krishnamurthy, owner of Sanman Travels, said, "There has been a 25-30 per cent increase in the flight fares. Earlier a flight to London would cost around Rs 30,000 to Rs 35,000, but now, that has increased to Rs 50,000. It's the same for US and Canada as well." He added that the increase in the cost of fuel was one of the reasons. Students are, understandably, stressed.

Nikita Krishna, residing in Jalahalli, will be shifting to the United States to do her masters in chemistry. She said, "we had already taken a loan for the expenses like buying clothes, utensils, and other necessities. However, even the loan was not enough because we had to buy the flight tickets which cost us more than we expected. When I saw the prices last year, it was around Rs 70,000; however, now we had to pay Rs one lakh for the flight tickets. We will have to take one more loan to keep up with the added cost."

Rajini M, residing in Rajajinagar, is going to complete her post-graduation in mathematics from London. She said that she had to pay almost Rs 75,000 for her ticket to London. "My classes start from September first week, and I received a notification from my college administration that I need to be present in college before August 20. Hence, we had to book a flight immediately."

Some of the students are resorting to booking flights which will have layovers to save a bit more. Romesh Jha, residing in Vijaynagar, will be completing his higher education in pharmaceutical studies in Manchester.

"I took a flight that will stop in Bahrain and from Bahrain, it will go to Manchester. The waiting time is 19 hours. It is going to be hectic, and it is my first time out of my country as well, so it is going to be a bit scary too. We had to pay Rs 55,000 for this flight ticket but at least it was cheaper."

Traffic police issue notice to driving schools to shun busy roads, take non-busy gullies

The Bangalore Traffic Police have issued notices to almost all the driving schools inside the city to not engage in driving lessons during peak hours on busy main roads, arterial roads or even sub-arterial roads. Driving school teachers have been told they can teach in non-busy gullies or interior roads where traffic is much less, a senior police officer said.

There are nearly 400 driving schools in the city and each of the schools on an average have around two to three vehicles in which they teach their students. "In the west traffic division alone, there are around 110 driving schools and we observed that these school vehicles ply on Ring Roads, and main roads even during peak hours," said Kuldeep Kumar Jain, Deputy Commissioner of Police (DCP) West Division (Traffic).

Initially notices were being sent to the schools from the traffic police department. After this too, cops observed driving school vehicles still on the main roads so the Kamakshipalya traffic police, on Tuesday and Wednesday fined a couple of driving school vehicles for plying on main roads during peak hours, the officer added.

Couple of driving schools fined after their vehicles were seen plying on main roads during peak hours

A driving school teacher, on the condition of anonymity told BM that they already have few customers and each chooses their own time slot as they go for work or study. "We have to adjust according to their timing and have the classes. We cannot expect them to come to us during non-peak hour times to learn driving. So we are in search of stretches of roads that have less traffic density to give lessons in driving. Another factor is that the students also need to get the taste of the bumper-to-bumper traffic in the city and get used to it. And that is the reason driving school teachers take them to drive in busy traffic roads," the teacher said.

The DCP asserted that if the driving school vehicles ply on main roads during peak hours they will be penalised.

Classes for mechanics

The traffic police have summoned almost all registered mechanics in the city in a staggered manner and conducted classes for them instructing them on three issues.

- Any mechanic should not engage in designing fancy number plates. The number plates should be of the standard IND format
- No mechanic shall alter or modify silencers of bikes or cars.
- No mechanics will sell or fit any shrill horns

Foundation stone laid 30 days ago; work on suburban rail: Nil

TWEETS @BangaloreMIRROR

It's been a month since Prime Minister Narendra Modi laid the foundation stone for the much-awaited suburban rail project, but work on it is yet to begin. Citizens are wondering what the hold-up is all about.

The project was sanctioned in October 2020 for the four corridors. Citizens pointed out that it has been 645 days since the project has been sanctioned and 30 days from the PM's commitment, yet the first brick is yet to be laid for the project.

"Every month, week and day counts. If the suburban rail are operative, it will ease the traffic congestion. But nothing has moved on the ground. The departments could not start the project work from 645 days after it is sanctioned, what is the assurance that they will start it now and complete in the next 1,170 days as per the PM's commitment or in the next 1,545 days as per the day sanctioned in letters and assurances?" said Rajkumar Dugar, Founder of Citizens for Citizens (C4C).

Activists also questioned the transparency and accountability of the project. "The public needs to know about the delay in the project. If there is any technical issue or funds problem of if there is no zeal for the project. Citizens ave been waiting for years and nothing has been done," he said.

> Funds are not a problem. The work will start in a fortnight –KRIDE official

An official from the Rail Infrastructure development company (Karnataka) limited-KRIDE - that is executing the project along with the State government and Ministry of Railways, said all the planning has been done and work will begin in a fortnight.

"The planning process is over. All the precautionary measures are being taken up. Tenders will be called and once finalised, work will begin. Once a part of the construction is done, tenders for the next part will be called. Funds are not a problem. We will have the work started in a fortnight," the official said.

Collateral damage of drain work? A few beloved trees

BBMP, Panathur residents counter each other over need to cut fully-grown trees

The residents of Panathur, Kaverappa Layout were in for a shock when they saw several trees in their locality being chopped off by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) citing drainage work.

Many of the residents who have been staying in the locality for over 10 years have witnessed the trees growing. However, since a week, the BBMP has started to carry out cleaning of the drains and reconstructing the drainage in the layout, and while the work was being carried out, trees were cut off.

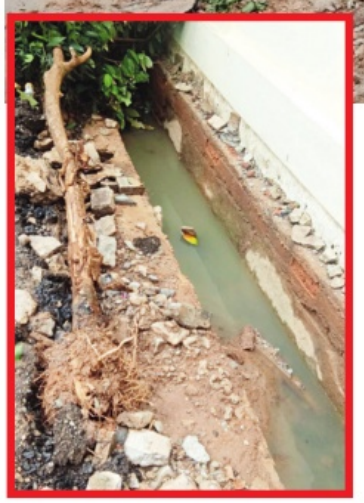
In the last two days over eight trees were reportedly chopped off as the BBMP worked with earth-movers. "Negligence has cost us many trees. Ideally, drainage work should be carried out manually. However, here the BBMP is using earth-movers for the work and many trees have been damaged and fallen off," said Ram Kanala, President of Panathur Resident Welfare Association (RWA).

Residents also alleged that there was a lot of spacing between the drains and where the trees were located.

"The trees were not in the way of the drain for them to have been chopped off. These were well grown trees which the residents have seen for years and they provide shade to the locality. People staying here did not even have problems with the drains. BBMP themselves came and started the work, and now the trees have faced the brunt," added Kanala.

A similar incident had taken place one year ago, residents pointed out.

According to the BBMP, the trees had to be chopped off because they were located on the drain at Kaverappa Layout in Panathur



They said that over 400 saplings planted by people were chopped off to carry out drain work in a Panathur locality. The residents had planted and watered the saplings every day with a lot of effort, and in no time, they were cut off for civic work.

> "Negligence has cost us many trees. Ideally, drainage work should be carried out manually. However, here the BBMP is using earth-movers
> – Ram Kanala, President, Panathur RWA

Another resident said, "We wanted to carry out plantations again, but are unsure. We cannot afford to plant more trees. While we have even questioned the BBMP regarding this several times, they keep repeating the same."

A BBMP Assistant Engineer said, "We are constructing a new drain and the trees were located on the drain. Hence, while excavating, some of the trees had to go. We do not cause damage to the trees intentionally. As the work needed to be carried out, we had to continue. The residents wanted new drains and we are carrying out the work. Once the work is finished, new saplings can be planted."

Behold! City to get fixed 'vendor zones' soon

Sridhar.Vivan@timesgroup.com

TWEETS @sridharvMIRROR

Tired of hawkers encroaching roads and footpaths? That may come to an end soon.

The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) has decided to classify roads as vending and non-vending zones. According to estimates, there are close to 1.8 lakh hawkers in the city.

BBMP Chief, Tushar Giri Nath, said, "There is a provision in our Act to classify the vending and non-vending areas. The whole process has to be done as per the rules and regulations. Currently, we are removing vendors from main roads. However, over a period of time, the vendors are back on the same roads. Hence, we need to create separate vending zones where vendors can do business."

However, for identifying vending zones, places would have to be identified based on whether they are suitable for vendors so that their business is not hampered, he said, adding that, at the same time, people's movement and traffic should also not be affected.

"Business hours for vendors need to be allotted as well. One thing is certain that main roads cannot be made vending zones as traffic volumes are higher. In case of those roads where the traffic is less, the respective resident welfare groups are objecting. For example, we cannot allow vending zones on the Outer Ring Road on either side as traffic volume is quite high," he said.

Business hours for vendors will be allotted

Keeping these issues in mind, a dedicated vending zone is being planned.

Physical demarcation of wards

With the ward numbers increasing in BBMP limits, many residents have no clue as to which ward they represent.

Although the civic body says that the ward maps are available on its website, it is still a Herculean task for most to know their exact wards.

Hence, to 'educate' the residents, the civic body is now planning to display physical maps. These physical maps will be displayed at vantage points like Primary Health Centres.

The reorganisation of wards would also mean redistribution of budgets.

"We will continue with our fixed budgets like Rs 40 lakh for disaster management and Rs 30 lakh for pothole filling in each ward. Apart from this, we have also allocated Rs 6 crore for outer zones and Rs 3 crore for core zones. This amount will be redistributed among the respective wards. We are expecting financial assistance from the state government, and when the money is allocated, it will be distributed to the wards," said Nath.

The freshly-added wards will also house new offices.

"To begin with, we can have a minimum of 800-square metre ward offices. If land is available, then we can plan for a 2,000 square office. Besides this, we need to get furniture as well. The increase in wards will also mean an increase in staff members. We need at least 45 more Assistant Executive Engineers, he explained.

Two-wheelers for kids but they cannot ride yet

MLA distributes 17 two-wheelers to underprivileged kids who scored big in SSLC exams

Chamrajpet MLA Zameer Ahmed Khan is once more in the news and although the cause may be lauded by many, some may wonder at the underlying message. Khan distributed 17 scooters to underprivileged students who passed SSLC examination with distinction. He arranged two vehicles for specially challenged people and all the beneficiaries are from Padarayanapura locality of Chamrajpet Assembly constituency. However, most of these kids are not 18 yet, the minimum age required for possessing a valid license.

Distribution of vehicles was held at Government Urdu and English Higher Primary School premises at Padarayanapura.

Khan said that it was his duty to encourage those deserving better in the future and being compassionate towards those specially challenged.

Khan said he wanted to motivate those who struggle to complete their education

He added that since he himself was a school dropout, he wanted to motivate those who were struggling to afford an education today, adding that he was very proud of their (the students') achievements.

"I could not pursue an education after the 10th standard. I wish and pray that you acquire a better education as your parents have a dream to see you all successful. Most of your parents cannot provide two meals a day and can only think of education in government schools. Yet, they want you to be successful."

While the move may be lauded by many, it may be recalled that Joint Commissioner (Traffic) Ravikanthe Gowda recently said that PU students cannot ride two-wheelers as they are not eligible to get a driving licence.

As per the norms, anyone who wants a driving licence needs to be of minimum 18 years of age.

Kavitha, mother of Praveen, one of the students who got a two-wheeler, said that she would use the vehicle to drop her son. "I will use it to drop her son to college in the morning," added Kavitha, who works at a photo studio.

Mary Savitha, mother of Sharon R, another such student, said she would not allow her daughter to ride the two-wheeler as she has to wait two more years to get the driving licence. "We received the message from the automobile showroom to be ready for the vehicle registration. We will keep the vehicle at home," she said.

Khan said that some of the parents requested him to give cash instead of two-wheelers as it would help them to pay college fees. "I obliged them by paying their college fees. I promised them that I will pay fees for their children next academic year too," he said.

Bengaluru records highest number of covid cases in India; however, rate of hospitalisation and infection symptoms continue to be low

| Garima Prasher

TWEETS @BangaloreMIRROR

It's a statistic we've all read about too many times and one every Bengalurean hates. The city is currently topping the chart of active cases recorded by all big cities in the country. However, the good news is that infection symptoms are not severe and rate of hospitalisations continue to be low.

As per the data by the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), Bengaluru recorded 7,064 active cases on Wednesday, followed by Chennai (5,759), Mumbai (2,093), New Delhi (2040) and Kolkata (272).

The city has been recording a high number of active covid cases for a week now.

Bengaluru reached the top spot among all the metro cities on July 16 with 6,704 active cases, followed by Chennai (6,090), Mumbai (2,640), New Delhi (2,010) and Kolkata (272).

There may not be any reason to panic yet as according to KV Trilok Chandra, Special Commissioner (Health), BBMP, the high number of active cases is due to the backlog of discharge cases.

"We have around 7,000 active cases, out of which, around 900 cases are pending discharge. They will be discharged from hospital within a few days. Once this number is taken off the active case list, we will be left with around six thousand cases, similar to that of Chennai. On average, we are reporting around 1,000 fresh covid cases every day, a statistic which is marginally on the higher side compared to the number of cases being reported by other major cities," said Chandra.

Don't fret, folks

While there is an uptick in overall positive cases in the city, the number of hospitalisations is going down. While as many as 58 were hospitalised on July 15, the number showed a downward trend and only 17 individuals were hospitalised on Wednesday.

With the recent surge of positive cases, while there is a concern about the new subvariant of Omicron, hospitals say that most patients have mild symptoms and are managing at home with conventional treatment.

"There is no rise in hospitalisation. Moreover, more patients are coming in with flu symptoms; while some are also covid-positive, there is no need to panic. Symptoms are mild and consultations are mostly online. Having said that, we should not drop our guards down, and must continue to be vigilant," said a healthcare expert at a private hospital in the city.

"There are very few cases that require hospitalisations and most of them are in general wards. The majority of the ICU cases are incidental covid-19 cases. They were admitted to the hospital owing to other ailments and later discovered to be covid-positive," added Chandra.

In Karnataka: 11.47 crore jabbed

Karnataka on Thursday clocked 1,552 fresh covid-19 cases and one death, taking the caseload and fatalities to 39,91,609 and 40,090 respectively, the Health Department said. So far, around 11.47 crore people have been vaccinated. The day also saw 1,384 people being discharged, taking the total number of recoveries to 39,43,444. Active cases stood at 8,033.

Bengaluru Urban accounted for the maximum number of 1,285 cases. A total of 33,671 samples were tested in the state including 25,821 through RT-PCR, taking the cumulative number of samples examined to 6.75 crore. The number of vaccinations done in the state rose to 11.47 crore, with 1,00,369 people being inoculated on Thursday, it said. -PTI

Man sends accomplice he met in jail to force withdrawal of complaint

Days after getting out of Central Prison, man gets to work — of intimidating persons who had filed abduction complaint against his friend

Bellie.Thomas@timesgroup.com
TWEETS @Bellie_Mirror

Hebbal police are on the lookout for a man who attacked a person recently, just days after getting out of jail.

The assailant, identified as Mani by the police, is also said to have come in an auto-rickshaw back to the spot two days after the assault to taunt onlookers. The victim, Sathish, told BM Mani had bragged that nothing would happen to him despite an FIR against him.

Sathish said he was standing in front of a bakery in Manorayanapalya, RT Nagar when an unknown man approached him and asked him if he was Sathish. When he said yes, the man began threatening him, demanding that his sister Nalini withdraw a case that was registered against his friend Shivu more than a year ago.

When Sathish told the man he does not know anything about the case, the man said he would be back to teach him a lesson.

Mani returned in a few moments with a bottle and broke it on a wall near the bakery, assaulting Sathish and trying to stab him. Sathish called Nalini who rushed to the spot in an auto-rickshaw, rescuing him.

> "Two days after the attack, the man returned to the spot to threaten onlookers against filing a complaint against him
> – Sathish, victim

Mani is said to have brought a bigger weapon and followed them on his bike for a while, warning them to withdraw the case – photographs of which Nandini captured on her phone. The duo reached Hebbal police station and filed a complaint against Mani, based on which the cops registered an FIR. Sathish learnt that the person who attacked him was Mani and he had been recently released from Parappana Agrahara Central Prison. He has been accused in several cases such as robberies and assault in and around KR Puram and spends a lot of time jailed.

The back-story

Sathish told BM that in 2021 January, Nalini's daughter, aged 14 at the time, was abducted by Shivu, who took her to Chennai and handed her over to a human trafficking racket. Police managed to rescue the child and Shivu was subsequently arrested.

In jail, he became friends with Mani, and when the latter was about to be released, Shivu instructed him to go to Manorayana Palya and threaten Sathish.

"Mani had come to assault us exactly a day before the court hearing. The day after we attended the court hearing, Mani showed up again in an auto-rickshaw to the bakery (same place of assault) and was seen warning onlookers that he would not spare anyone who filed the complaint. The Hebbal police are on the lookout for Mani who has now gone absconding," said the victim.

Murmu to be next President

NDA's presidential candidate Droupadi Murmu on Thursday crossed the crucial 50 per cent mark after the third round of counting to emerge victorious in the poll over her rival Yashwant Sinha

An official announcement on her win is expected after all votes are counted but she has already got 5,77,777 votes, which is more than the halfway mark of the total valid votes cast in the election on July 18.

Returning Officer P C Mody announced that Murmu has already received over 53 per cent of the total valid votes. Ballots from 10 states and Union territories are being still counted. Sources said 17 MPs from opposition parties have cross-voted in her support.

All MLAs from Andhra Pradesh voted in Murmu's favour, while in Arunachal Pradesh she got votes of all legislators except for four.

Officials said the NDA candidate received two-thirds of the votes in all the three rounds of counting. So far, votes of 20 states and those cast by MPs have been counted. Votes of 10 more states and union territories are being counted as of now. Conceding defeat, Opposition candidate Sinha congratulated Murmu and said that every Indian hopes that as the 15th President she functions as the "custodian of the Constitution" without fear or favour.

In a statement, Sinha thanked the leaders of the Opposition parties for choosing him as their consensus candidate in this election.

"I also thank all members of the Electoral College who voted for me. I accepted the offer of Opposition parties solely guided by the philosophy of Karma Yoga preached by Lord Krishna in the Bhagavad Gita - 'Do your duty without expectation of the fruits thereof'," Sinha said. Prime Minister Narendra Modi and BJP president J P Nadda visited Murmu's residence here to congratulate her.

Droupadi Murmu elected as the 15th President of the country

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh also congratulated Murmu on her "impressive" win and asserted that her victory is proof of India democracy's strength. The Election Commission is likely to issue 'certificate of election' to the winning candidate on Friday.

CM congratulates Murmu

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday congratulated NDA nominee Droupadi Murmu for emerging victorious in the Presidential election. Celebrations were being held at several places across the country. In a tweet, he said, "A matter of immense pride for every Indian in having the first woman tribal President #DroupadiMurmu. A memorable day for the country." "We Indians are proud of our deeply ensconced democratic values. Congratulations to the newly elected President of India Smt. Droupadi Murmu ji."

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday congratulated Droupadi Murmu on her election as new President of the country and said she has emerged as a ray of hope for citizens, especially the poor, marginalised and the downtrodden. President Ram Nath Kovind also extended his best wishes to Draupadi Murmu who will succeed him in the highest office of the country. "Heartiest congratulations and best wishes to Smt. Droupadi Murmu on being elected as the 15th President of India," President Kovind said in a tweet. The Prime Minister said that India has scripted history as a daughter hailing from a tribal community born in a remote part of eastern India has been elected President. — PTI

2021. I was very happy with Sathya's humility and prompt service. She is exceptional, with a high level of empathy. She deserves to pursue higher education, and perhaps IAS. It is very rare to find such people working with the BBMP," Bishaka Prasad told BM over the phone. Feedback from the public recorded in a book kept at the Kalpalli Burial Ground office is testimony to Sathya's hard work and punctuality. Nancy Mary from Kammanahalli met Sathya in September last year. She appreciated Sathya's loyalty and hard work. "I visited Kalpalli Burial Ground for the burial of my brother-in-law's mortal remains. He died of cardiac arrest. I was amazed and felt happy with Sathya's hard work. She listened to us with a lot of patience and guided us properly," said Mary. One could say, so far, not a single person who visited the burial ground to register the death of their near and dear ones went home disappointed. However, the BBMP officials failed to even visit the burial ground registrar's building to inspect whether it has all amenities such as water, electricity, toilets and furniture.

Sujoy Augustine from Cox Town who met Sathya a few months ago appreciated her too. "She is doing a wonderful job by being helpful, supportive and empathetic towards people who come there," said Augustine.

The defunct toilet has been converted into a store room to dump discarded items. The electricity meter installed by Bangalore Electricity Supply Company (Bescom) stopped working long ago; there is no power supply to the building. "I have already brought these problems to the notice of higher authorities. They visited this building, but forgot to fix the problems. I give importance to serving people who come here with sorrow of losing their near and dear ones. I have adapted to the amenities available here. I have to lock the office and go home to attend nature's call," said Sathya with a smile. Sathya said she would not hesitate to guide people how to get a death certificate and where to submit the application for the same. "Many people do not know where to go and whom to approach to submit the documents to get a death certificate," she said.

Meanwhile, BBMP joint commissioner (east) Shilpa R assured to look into the matter. "I am not aware of the lack of restrooms for the woman working at Kalpalli Burial Ground office. I will attend to this problem," she said.

HEALTH TIP: Avoid diets that are high in ultra-processed foods as they can contribute to obesity, type 2 diabetes, and heart diseases.

Coffee is rich in antioxidants, and some studies have linked its intake to longevity.

GREEN FLAG CHECK

To talk or not talk about your ex in a new relationship is one topic that has people divided

In a perfect world, when one relationship ends and another starts anew, you move on civilly. No more ties, all memories erased, no resentment in the heart.

But we don't live in an ideal world. Breakups are often messy and leave you with an unsolicited shared history.

What do you do with that?

Dating App QuackQuack recently surveyed people ranging from 21 and 35 years of age to get their opinion on discussing the ex with the present partner.

The survey revealed that 61 per cent of the people talk about their ex with their present partner. They believe that if something is distressing you, discuss it with your partner. On the other hand, 39 percent are scared it might hurt their relationship. Talking about your ex is like treading dangerous waters.

Healthy relationship check

Forty-seven per cent of women aged 25 to 30, voiced that talking about their ex with the new partner proves that they are in a sound and secure relationship. They chimed that the current partner must have survived a heartbreak or two. There should be no reason to be afraid of opening up about the past. Everyone wants to be a tough cookie until the day it starts affecting their mental health. Talking about your ex and the grief afflicted in the past relationship would leave you unburdened and happy.

Trauma bonding

Fifty-six per cent of people above 30 from tier 1 and tier 2 cities talk about their previous relationship with their partner, and they opine that the conversation is not actually about the ex, it is rather about the trauma they gave each other. Often listening to each other's past traumas has a bonding effect on their relationships. Some mentioned focusing on the positive aspect of their exes. While it is tempting to dish about the said ex, that is not a healthy approach.

Hung up on your ex?

According to the survey, 38 per cent of the surveyed users aged 18 to 25 indicated being against talking about their ex or related issues with their partner. They reckon that talking about your ex might mean that you are still in love with them. It's best to leave the past behind you. A few chimed that it is not fair to put your new boo in your ex's shadow. Bringing up your ex habitually can cause lasting damage to the relationship.

Red flag, Green Flag

Are you one to pick up a fight whenever you hear your sweetheart talk about their ex? You might want to pay attention to what 43 per cent of women from tier 1 and tier 2 cities think about such behaviour. They voiced finding it as a big red flag in the relationship. These ladies were curious to know why trivial discussions about a person who was a part of your life once upon a time create so much drama. They opined that a man secure about himself would never exhibit such a demeanour.

An oddball

QuackQuack shared that among their surveyed users, 52 per cent of men aged 30 to 35 find it odd if their partner never mentions the ex in the entire relationship. It might be an indication of unresolved feelings. Some of these men revealed that if their partner is vague around the discussions revolving around their ex, or they seem to withhold some of the truth about their past relationship, it can be a harbinger of bad news. Why would you want to pretend as if you have never been with anyone in the past? You are all the choices you made, and your ex is one of them!

Brawl with Boo

Upon analysis, the App found some unhealthy trends among the younger ones compared to the more mature. 26 percent of women ranging from 21 to 25 revealed that discussing their ex or the mere utterance of their names had caused an ugly fight and unnecessary strain in the relationship. —IANSlife

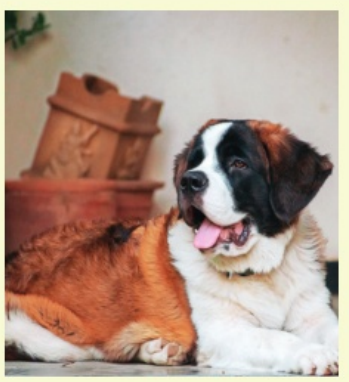
Feeding your dog raw meat? Read this

Recent studies have linked germs that are resistant to vitally needed antibiotics to the feeding of raw meat to pet dogs.

The findings of the research were published in the 'Journal of Antimicrobial Chemotherapy'. Two studies led by a team at the University of Bristol have found dogs who are fed on a diet of raw meat were more likely to excrete antibiotic-resistant bacteria Escherichia coli (E coli) in their faeces.

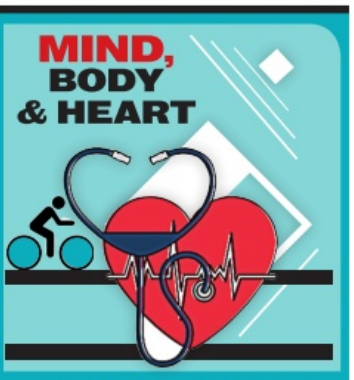
Previous research has shown that there is the potential for bacteria to be shared between dogs and their human owners through everyday interaction, leading the researchers to suggest that raw feeding is not the safest dietary choice, and that, if chosen, owners should take extra precautions when handling raw meat.

The study investigated adult dogs and found links between dogs eating raw meat and excreting resistant E coli. The research supports a recent study by the team, published in the journal One Health, which looked at 16-week-old puppies.



Both studies, which used data from different dogs, demonstrate that dogs may excrete resistant bacteria regardless of their age or the length of time they are fed a raw meat diet.

The environment a dog lives in also played a part in the potential for them to excrete resistant bacteria. —ANI



All problems solved

Dear Coleen

I've recently turned 50 and I'm having a bit of a crisis. I've been seeing someone for a few years and he just won't commit to me.
He blows hot and cold all the time, so I never know where I stand.
Whenever I think about leaving and tell him I've had enough, he'll do something sweet and I end up staying.
We don't live together, but we stay over at each other's houses a lot.
We're both divorced and have children from our marriages.
I want a man to come home to and share things with, not just hook-ups for sex and occasional days or evenings out - I'm past all that.
But I think he's happy with this casual type of relationship.
Do I just go with it or insist that he gives me more? Or should I leave and hope I meet someone else, which doesn't feel like a realistic prospect at my age.
He's not a bad guy, but he hates pressure of any kind and I know if I try to get more of a commitment from him, he could freak out.
What should I do? I feel so past it and so unhappy.

COLEEN SAYS

Well, you're not past it and you shouldn't settle for someone because you're afraid you might not meet anyone else.

He's making you feel like you can't have more and he's controlling things by blowing hot and cold all the time, so you never know exactly where you are with him.

You keep hoping this guy will change and make a commitment, but the signs aren't good. He's happy with the status quo and I don't think he'll ever be able to give you what you want. Meeting someone else isn't unrealistic - I've met several great guys via online dating. Finding the strength to leave will give you confidence and dating will be a breeze. Don't stay with him if he's not making you happy.

The numbers in the grey squares refer to the sums of the digits that you must fill into the empty spaces directly below or to the right of the grey square containing the number. For instance, in the given example, the 3 boxes horizontally next to 15 must contain 3 digits that add up to 15, whereas for 9, it is the 2 boxes placed vertically under it that must add up to 9. No zeros are used here, only the digits 1 through 9.

Note: A digit cannot appear more than once in any particular digit combination. For instance, in the example, we cannot have the combination of 4+7+4 for 15.

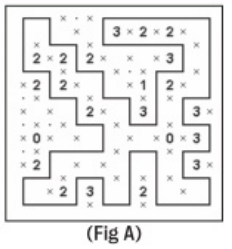
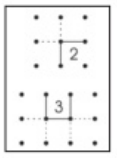
Rules

» Connect adjacent dots with vertical or horizontal lines, creating a single loop (Fig A). » Crossovers or branches are not allowed (As shown by dotted lines in Fig B). » Numbers in the puzzle indicate the number of lines that should surround it, while empty cells may be surrounded by any number of lines. » You can't draw lines around zeros. » Each puzzle has just one unique solution.



(Fig A)



(Fig B) Not Allowed

How to begin:

Example (Fig A) – Begin with the zero next to 3. Since no lines can be drawn around zero, mark crosses around it, as shown. Now there is a cross in one space around 3. So we know the three lines of 3 can only be drawn in the remaining three spaces. Next, these lines can only be extended in one direction each. Continue, using the same logic.

Hints: Keep eliminating possibilities by marking crosses in spaces between dots where a line isn't possible, i.e., if you have already completed required lines or where a line extension may create a branch or cause a dead-end (Fig B)
